specesses have been many and brilliant.
William Ernest, Jr., has written an entertaining extravaganza on the subject of Old King Cole. The play is pervaded with humor, and there are occasional lashes of wit in the lines. It has been given seven times in Philadelphia with spleadid success, and the new costumes and scenery will be seen here as in the original production.

There will be seventy-live students on the stage, and the dancing chorus will certainly create a furore. The girlish antics of the boys who play the part of women will be a feature.

Clever specialties will be introduced, and the performance will be one of giltter, fun and nonsense. The musical numbers furnished by Charles Gilpin are very catchy and original.

INDIAN BILL PASSED SENATE

Chinese Exclusion Discussed, Both in Upper and Lower Houses of Congress.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.-After passing the Indian appropriation bill to-day, the Senate considered the Chinese exclusion measure for nearly three hours. The principal speech was made by Mr. Fairbanks, of Indiana, in support of the bill. He analyzed its provisions to demonstrate that they were not in contravention of our treaty with China, and discussed at length the right of Congress to enact exclusion legislation. He mainof that it was a cardinal principle of this Government to protect its labor against such low priced labor as would come to the United States from China. An extended debate followed linger, of New Hampshire, and Mr. Platt, of Connecticut, indicated their belief that the provisions of the measure relating to the exempted classes were in con-travention of our treaty obligations to China. Mr. Lodge, Mr. Penrose and Mr. Fairbanks combatted this view, the sup-porters of the measure maintaining that its provisions were drawn clearly within the treaty obligations of this country.

Mr. Daniel, of Virginia, was in his seat for the first time since Congress convened in December. During the enmon the Virginia Costitutional Conven-A bill to authorize the establishment of :

life-saving station on Ocracoke Island, on the coast of North Carolina, was passed. The Senate then resumed consideration of the Indian appropriation bill and af-ter some minor amendments the bill was passed.

In the House. (By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—The Chinese exclusion bill was under consideration in the House throughout the day, general debate being closed. Without events of the constant of ception the speeches were favorable to rigid exclusion and expressed the feeling of repugnance to the Chinese. Mr. Kahn, of California, the author of the bill, was gratified during the day at reaching an understading by which most of the amendments proposed by the Pacific coast people will be accepted by the committee. This probably will lead to the withdrawal of the minority bill and the passage of the majority measure.

The only amendment at issue is on the usilors' clause, and this by agreement is to be submitted to a vote.

They are Messrs. George Schmelz, the banker; Walter B. Livezey, of the Old Dominion Land Company, and W. S. Bowen, formerly with the Newport News

The horrible death of William Mino last night had an unexpected sequel this morning in the arrest of his nephew, Andrew Minor, charged with his death Minor, who was a respectable colored man, lived with his nephew. He was sub lect to spasms, and it is supposed that in one of these he fell across the stove on which he was found roasted to death esterday. The nephew, however, is now harged with putting the old man on the tove to get rid of the care of him. The widence, such as it is, is purely circumtantial, and it is hardly probable that it will justify holding the man.
